EMPHASIZING POINT. Mrs. Nel Lee with clenched fist, tells supervisors in courthouse on Friday that she resents way they treated both members of public and the county school board at meeting between the two boards in an attempt to settle differences concerning the disposition of $290,000 in EDA funds. School board, endorsed by number of parents present for occasion, asked for entire amount to provide improvements at Hancock North Central School, facing loss of all federal funding due to its lunchroom and restrooms facilities having been condemned by the Board of Health, and restrooms in the gymnasium at Gulfview.

Police are now .500, two down-two to go from May jailbreak

The second of four county jail inmates who escaped May 14 from the Hancock lock-up has been apprehended in Mobile, Alabama.

William Dwight Hendricks, alias Dwight McIntyre, 22, was arrested Friday after police had maintained a surveillance in the vicinity of his listed home address in that city.

One of his former cellmates, Jimmy Sullivan, was arrested earlier in the week after being caught in an act of burglary.

Hendricks was who was serving seven years for burglary and parole violation, will appear before a magistrate in Mobile next Tuesday.

It is reported that Hendricks has agreed to waive extradition and will be returned to Hancock County next week.

Sullivan did not choose to waive extradition and if convicted and sentenced on the new charges will have to serve his time in Alabama before being returned to Mississippi. Serving four years on charges and conviction of rape and jail break at the time of his escape, Sullivan will face additional jail break charges on his being returned to this state to complete the balance of his sentence.

Still at large from the May escape are Robert Odell Bennett, Jr., and John A. Butler.

Bennett was serving 20 years on conviction of 20 counts of burglary in Hancock County and 10 counts of burglary in Harrison County. Butler was serving 10 years for five counts of burglary, jail break, and armed robbery.

CAN'T TAKE THE HEAT—Beach Blvd. in Waveland was on the rise last Thursday afternoon as the roadway cracked near the Bay St. Louis City Limits. Here, Waveland Police Officer David Oubre directs traffic as Beat 4 Supervisor Sammy Perniclaro surveys the situation. Construction crews had to take an air hammer to cut out a section of the roadway and repaired the damaged area with asphalt to the correct level for vehicular traffic on Friday afternoon. Another "hot spot" was reported on Highway 90 in Pass Christian. Where State Highway Department crews repaired the damage on the eastbound lane Friday morning. The cracking has occurred for the past few weeks in several areas along the Coast and is due to a lack of moisture and the extreme hot weather.

School Board, Supervisors agree to disagree on EDA spending

The feasibility of consolidating school systems into a single county unit was again heard Friday following a meeting between the Hancock County supervisors and school board concerning the use of some $290,000 in Economic Development Administration (EDA) funds.

No action came out of the meeting with school trustees returning to their own board room in the Youth Court Building, later declaring they would wait until after the board of supervisors' official session Monday before taking their next step.

Confusion concerning the type of meeting to be staged arose when Supervisor President Alton Kellar said it had been his understanding the affair was to be a closed and unofficial session between the two boards.

School authorities denied this claim stating that while they understood the supervisors were meeting "informally" and therefore could take no action, the meeting had been scheduled and announced as being "open."

The supervisor's board room was packed with parents and other interested parties, including Tax Assessor George Heitzmann, and Stennis International Airport manager Randolph Bourgeois, Jr.

Heitzmann on Monday had also sought the money for construction of a records storage center and office space in the courthouse.

Bourgeois, who had also represented the county's MIDAS Committee with the governor on Tuesday, was later called upon by the supervisors to speak on behalf of the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission, an entity also seeking the $290,000.

Should their plea prove successful the port commission would use the money as matching funds for development of the airport's industrial park. Here emphasis would be on installation of streets, drainage systems, sewer treatment and gathering systems and the like.

Bourgeois repeated the statement made Monday by Wilson W. Wehre, port director, to the effect that two industries were waiting such facility completion before commencing construction. He said between them the industries would employ about 100 people.

Civil Defense offers courses

A series of medical self-help and CPR courses has been announced by the Bay-Waveland-Hancock County Civil Defense Council. The courses will be conducted by qualified instructors during the next three months at four locations in Hancock County.

Bob Budin, CD director, said the courses will be taught by Ed Friloux, chief instructor for all courses, Ingar Jo Johnson, David Michael Davis, Charles Barrack and Richard Peneguy.

The medical self help course will consist of a total of 16 hours. Classes will be taught from 7-9 p.m. on the dates and places listed below:

BAY ST. LOUIS, CD OFFICE: Mondays, June 27; July 11, 18 & 25; Aug. 1, 8, 15 & 22.
PEARLINGTON, CIVIL ASSOC. BLD.: Tuesdays, June 28; July 12, 19 & 26; Aug. 2, 9, 16 & 23.
WAVELAND, CIVIC CENTER: Wednesdays, June 29; July 13, 20 & 27; Aug. 3, 10, 17 & 24.
HANCOCK NORTH CENTRAL: Thursdays, June 30; July 14, 21 & 28; Aug. 4, 11, 18 & 25.

CPR courses will be taught on Monday, Aug. 29 in Bay St. Louis; Tuesday, Aug. 30 in Pearlington; Wednesday, Aug. 31 in Waveland and Thursday, Sept. 1 at Hancock North Central. The course will be a four hour course and will run from 7-11 p.m. at the above locations.

All of the courses are free of charge and open to the public.

Kellar said the EDA grant had not been broken down and in consequence the supervisors found themselves between a rock and a hard place.

School board attorney Joseph Gex opened the school board's presentation, repeated their frequently presented needs of a new cafeteria, restroom renovations and classrooms at Hancock North Central, and restrooms at the Gulfview gymnasium.

Gex said the difference in cost to funds available would be offset by the school system being able to draw matching funds on a dollar for dollar basis from the Education Finance Commission.

"This will result in us being able to drive the principal amount up to $570,580,000," Gex said.

Kellar then allowed he thought it best if the board of education and the supervisors both submitted their list of priorities to EDA and let that agency decide the disposition of the money.

"You can see the position we find ourselves in."

"We all have problems and I don't think it right that one agency takes all the money," Kellar said.

Under the unusual terms of the grant both the school board and the supervisors must agree on the method of allocation before EDA will permit its being spent.

Kellar in reference to the airport plea, told the school board that to give the money to the port commission would result in 100 jobs to feed county families.

School Board Member Oris Ladner challenged such statement saying that apart from the fact he would never vote for such spending, he doubted whether the 100 jobs would go to county people.

He said he has been here (in Hancock County) for 52 years and had never worked in the county.

"We've been trying for the last 200 years to bring industry here and the situation hasn't improved," Ladner said.

Supervisor Oscar Peterson promptly retorted that between 3-400 people are now working at Port Bienville, the county industrial park project.

Ladner equally as prompt quizzed Peterson on how many of those people came from the county stating that it was probably 30 or 40. "Just the same as at NASA," he quipped.

Kellar at that point stated he intended to cut off debate and make the meeting short and sweet.

"The board is not going to take the responsibility," he claimed, adding that it was up to the two boards to resolve their differences.

The school board, complete less their president Monvel Cuevas, said that was why they were there.

They asked the supervisors to negotiate and present their priorities, a suggestion declined by supervisors at that time.

The supervisors claimed the school board did not want to negotiate but instead wanted all the money.

Board member Woodrow Ladner

then repeated all the school projects stating they were what they wanted and suggested that such were the county's highest priority.

Woodrow Ladner turned aside

Treutel to travel

David Treutel of Bay St. Louis, a sophomore in the Navy ROTC program at the University of Mississippi, will travel along the Pacific coast this summer for six weeks of shipboard training and a taste of life at sea.

As a midshipman third

In 1950, it took 15.8 minutes of work to earn 1/2 gallon of milk; in 1975 it took 9.8 minutes. As a percentage of disposable income, consumer expenditures for dairy products declined from 4 percent in 1950 to 2.1 percent in 1975.

class, Treutel will assume the duties of a enlisted man for an appreciation of working conditions as that job level. He will receive training for seagoing skills needed on deck and in operations, engineering and watchstanding.

Shipboard lectures, in addition to the on-job training, will reinforce classroom lessons. The training period is designed also to teach safety requirements at sea and in port.

All midshipmen in training will receive evaluations of their work, and in turn will evaluate the shipboard learning experience.

Over the last 20 years, the output per hour on the farm has increased more than three times as fast as output per man hour in non-farm activities. Whereas one farm worked produced enough to feed himself and 19 others 20 years ago, he can now feed 56 people besides himself.

Dairy product consumers can always be sure about the purity and nutrition value of their products. A recent USDA study revealed that milk plants are inspected about 24 times a year, although the Public Health Service recommends only twice a year checks ups in its model sanitary code.

Washington report

By Trent Lott

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Congressman Trent Lott, R-Miss., has joined in the sponsorship of a legislative package aimed at improving the quality of rural health care delivery.

The package, Lott said, comes at a time when almost two-thirds of the nation's 3,141 counties are beset by a doctor shortage and the cost of health care is soaring at more than 10 percent of the country's Gross National Product (GNP).

"Over-restrictive federal regulations are a prime cause of both rising costs and inadequate services to people in rural areas," Lott said. "That is why I have joined in sponsoring this package with Congresswoman Virginia Smith, R-Neb."

Lott, who represents Mississippi's

Fifth Congressional District, said one of the bills, H.R. 6167, would require the secretary of Health, Education and Welfare to draft separate regulations for health facilities with fewer than 100 beds.

"Since nearly one-half of the nation's health facilities have less than 100 beds, this would be a sensible division to make regulations more responsive to these smaller facilities," Lott said.

Another bill, H.R. 6166, would allow long-term hospital care to be reimbursed under Medicare when no nursing homes were available in the county. Lott said the bill would help eliminate expense and waste by allowing rural hospitals to use their facilities to the fullest extent.

A third bill, H.R. 6707, would abolish unnecessary policing of rural health care facilities by the Professional Standards Review Organization (PSRO). Another part of the package, H.R. 7754, would grant Medicare coverage for the services of physician attendants in rural areas served by overworked physicians.

While these assistants do not directly solve the doctor shortage problem, they could help ease the crisis, Lott said.

Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis, Ms. 39520

Dear Sirs:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the members of the Hancock County Extension Homemakers Council and their President Mrs. Gloria Holmes for the excellent art festival they sponsored this past Saturday. It was great viewing art beneath the beautiful oaks on the St. Augustine campus.

Such festivals which promote and patronize the arts improve the quality of life in all communities. I hope that this festival will become an annual event which will draw wider and wider interest and participation. As an art teacher, I know how much it means to my students to have an opportunity to exhibit their work, and when they are fortunate enough to receive recognition the experience is all the more wonderful.

What's up?

What's up? Well, medical care prices are up — that's for sure. Medical care was at 184.7 on the Consumer Price Index in 1976. (1976 equals 100) Some people even say that medical care is the fastest rising item in the CPI.

But that's not true, says the Mississippi State Medical Association. Many important items on the CPI (and some relatively trivial ones, too) are rising as fast as medical care — or even faster.

That includes many essential services. Lawyers' charges, for example, were at 199.9 on the 1976 CPI. Insurance and finance charges were at 196.6. Postal charges were at 222.3.

Most services pertaining to everyday living are up: having your living room or dining room repainted (225.6), having the house roof reshingled (233.4), having a sink replaced (210.2), having the furnace repaired (207.1), having the washing machine repaired (200.4), repairs of the family auto (189.7), services of a baby sitter for the evening (214.6).

Speaking of baby sitters and babies, the price of diapers registered 190.2 on the CPI while blue jeans were slightly behind at 180.0.

Coffee breaks and other between-meal snacks have also made impressive price rises: coffee was at 243.8, sugar at 201.3, evaporated milk at 204.8. Cinnamon rolls were at 195.9.

For the youngsters' snacks, the price of a cola drink was at 194.2, chocolate bars were at 233.5, cookies were at 189.6. The price of taking the kids to the movies, incidentally, hit 193.8 on the CPI.

The dinner table was affected by higher prices: Potatoes (200.1), rib roast (188.4), whole ham (199.6), seafood (227.3). Bacon for breakfast was at 210.4, sausage at 226.6. American cheese, popular in lunch boxes and picnics, at 198.6.

Prices of household utilities were up: heating fuel oil or coal (250.8), gas (200.9), residential water and sewerage services (188.7).

Prices of many of the amenities of life have risen: toilet soap (193.5), women's haircuts (186.6), china dinnerware (190.6).

Bathroom tissue was at 234.4.

Of course, prices aren't the only things that have gone up. Incomes have risen, too. Per capita income after taxes has more than doubled since 1967, for an index of 202.0 in 1976.

And Social Security taxes have risen faster than either consumer prices or incomes. An index for the maximum Social Security tax on employees (if the government published one) would have been 308.2 in 1976 (1967 equals 100). For 1977 the maximum Social Security tax index would be 332.4.

Hurricane quiz marks opening of 1977 season

Hurricane Camille slammed into the Mississippi coast August 17, 1969, packing winds of 190 m.p.h. and a surge of water 25 ft. above normal. By the time she had left, 125 people were dead, scores were injured and property damage was estimated at more than $130 million.

Could that scene be replayed this year? The National Hurricane Center in Miami, the Insurance Information Institute notes, says that chances of a hurricane hitting the Gulf Coast are as good in 1977 as in any other year. No system exists for predicting hurricanes; so it is important for everyone living near the Gulf to be prepared.

The Insurance Information Institute has prepared a three-part test to promote hurricane-survival awareness among Mississippi residents. The first part of the test consists of questions on insurance and other preparations for a hurricane. Part II deals with what to do or not to do during a hurricane and Part III covers what to do following a storm and how to make an insurance claim.

The Insurance Information Institute urges everyone to test their hurricane survival knowledge. Scores will indicate where improvements are needed. If you miss three questions or less, rate yourself prepared; four to eight missed and you're borderline; more than eight and you are in trouble.

For additional copies of the test, please contact the Insurance Information Institute, 1777 Fidelity Union Tower, Dallas, Texas, 75201, or call 214-741-5195.

Cheerleader...

Senior High School in Bay St. Louis and competition among hundreds of other cheerleaders in Mississippi.

Miss Rayborn, a 1977 graduate at BHS, was a Tiger cheerleader for four years and served as Co-Captain her Junior year and Captain during the 1976-77 season.

In addition to her own personal honor, Miss Rayborn and the Bay High Cheerleaders won the highest honor a squad can receive during cheerleader clinic last summer at Perkinston Junior College. The Tiger squad was first selected as superior and then received the highest honor, the award of excellence, the first such honor for a cheerleaders squad from Hancock County. Miss Rayborn was judged as one of the top six outstanding cheerleaders at the clinic and followed that honor by being named the number one cheerleader in the entire clinic. In all there were three sessions and some 400 cheerleaders took part in the camp.

Following her selection as the top cheerleader, she was asked to submit an application to NCA, along with pictures and a list of the various routines she could perform. She was later notified she had been selected as an instructor for NCA and will now be traveling to various locations to conduct cheerleader clinics such as the one she took part in at Perkinston. As a paid instructor for the 25 year old NCA, she will instruct and judge cheerleader squads and plans to continue her job as a professional cheerleader each summer, "until I get too old."

She is already scheduled to work at cheerleader camps this summer at all three Perkinston campuses, Mississippi College, the University of Tennessee and the University of South Florida at Tampa.

Miss Rayborn plans to continue her education at the University of Southern Mississippi in the field of business.

To give a different viewpoint on the amount of time that is required for cheerleaders, such as the Tiger squad, to put forth in order to attain a superior rating, Miss Rayborn told of the many hours of hard work and dedication. During the summer months, when most young people are relaxing from nine months of school, the Tiger cheerleaders working toward their goal of winning the superior and award of excellence for their school. A four day a week work schedule was set up, which included road work at 7 a.m. each day. They practiced routines, timing and coordination to develop their skills. The long hot summer and endless hours of practice paid off for the young ladies at Bay High when they stepped forward to receive the top award at Perkinston. But their work had only started. They were then faced with a football and basketball season plus other school activities. The seasons not only required home and road games, but also included weekly workouts, pep rallies and more practice. An 8:30 to 3:30 day it wasn't!

Although Miss Rayborn has received an individual award, she shares the honor with the Tiger cheerleader squad who have put forth the hard work, dedication and spirit to make them number one.

Crime resistance alert

WHEELING AND STEALING

Thinking back a few years to the time when I was a boy in Missouri, bicycles were, for the most part, considered toys. When one disappeared, it was usually because some youngster took it for a joy ride and failed to return it. Unfortunately, that's often not the case today. Many bicycles are hardly toys. They are quite valuable, especially those equipped with finely machined gears and accessories. As a result, bicycles are stolen in great numbers by professional thieves.

Bicycles are often stolen off of lawns or porches and out of unlocked garages at night. School yards and playground are popular targets of bike thieves during the day time.

Don't make it easy for a bike thief to steal your bicycle. Practice these few crime resistance reminders which could help you to "keep on biking."

(1) Register all bicycles with the appropriate local agency. Permanently etch your driver's license number preceded by your state's initials on the frame of all your family's bicycles. This will make it identifiable to a police agency. Report the theft of any bicycle to the police.

(2) Don't leave bicycles on the lawn, on the porch or in an unlocked garage, especially at night. If a bicycle must be left unattended anywhere, it should be secured to a solidly fixed rack or tree with a good quality chain and lock. The chain should not be looped just through a wheel but through the frame and both wheels.

(3) Regularly remind your children that just as bicycle safety rules will reduce the chances of their being hurt in an accident, crime safety practices will reduce the chance that their bike will be stolen.

(4) Encourage school and recreation authorities to provide secure bike racks located where they can be viewed by employees of the facility.

Keep your wits - and keep your wheels.

Dixie, Legion take victories

In Babe Ruth play at Bay High Field on June 23rd, Dixie Realty skipped by Coast Electric by a score of 10 to 8 and American Legion survived Rotary, 18 to 12.

In the first game, 4 Dixie pitchers combined to handcuff most of Coast Electric batters, except for Tommy Godwin, as Dixie defeated Coast Electric.

Andrew Haas started for Dixie, Ron Lusich replaced him in the 3rd, Keith Favre took over for Lusich in the 6th and Gary Sotak took Favre's place in the 6th. Ron Lusich was the winning pitcher.

Haas was the power - stick for Dixie as he collected 2 singles and a double in 3 at-bats. Mike Mirandy was 2 for 4. Tommy Godwin stroked 3 of Coast Electric's 7 hits as he went 3 for 4.

Dwayne LaFontaine went the distance for Coast Electric and was pinned with the loss. Coast Electric tried to make a game of it in the last inning when they, trailing by 4, 10-6, scored 2 runs but the rally was killed by a strikeout.

In the second game both American Legion and Rotary used the seventh inning as their big inning as Legion scored 8 runs and Rotary scored 9, but it just wasn't enough for Rotary as they lost to Legion 18 to 12. Kerry Geroux and David Strong scattered 7 hits with Geroux picking up the win.

Kerry Geroux went 2 for 3 to help his own cause. Melvin Barnes went 4 for 6, Kelly Geroux 2 for 3, and Eric Labot 2 for 5 as they got 8 of Legion's 13 hits.

For Rotary, Perre Cabell started and was tagged with the loss. He went 2 for 4 in a losing cause.

THREE HUDDLE prior to opening of public meeting on Friday to discuss county priorities for spending some $290,000 of recent grant EDA funds. Before spending can start both supervisors and school board must agree or decision will be made by EDA on basis of new proposals. Talking prior to meeting's commencement are, from left, Supervisors Sam Perniclaro, James Travirca, and Alton A. Kellar.

FILLING WITNESS TABLE, members of Hancock County School Board prepare case for presentation to county supervisors on Friday in courthouse in relation to use of some $290,000 in EDA funds. From left, seated and listening to opening remarks are: School Board Members Woodrow Ladner, Louie Ladner, Johnny Banks; Superintendent of Education Terrell Randolph, Board Attorney Joseph Gex. Also present but not then at table was School Board Member Oris Ladner.

EDA spending

questions by Kellar regarding the lack of restrooms at Gulfview and the returning of unused insurance settlement money, saying, "Are we going to punish the children today for the mistakes of 12 years ago?"

Supervisor of Beat One Bert Courge, repeatedly stressed his seeming concern that should Hancock North Central receive all the improvements the school board's chances of having a bond issue later approved for construction of a new high school in the lower part of the county may again go down to defeat.

But, he seemed to think that bare renovations coupled to a bond issue request would result in voter approval.

Woodrow Ladner severely questioned Courge on the bond issue route asking, as they had already tried twice and been defeated twice, what assurances could be given that such would succeed in the future.

"We need immediate relief," Woodrow Ladner said, adding, "a bond issue, even if successful would take two years before the school would be ready for occupancy."

Beat Three Supervisor Oscar Peterson, facing severe drainage and bridge problems in his beat, let it be known that he favored some of the money being allocated to him for that purpose.

"It is no good having somewhere you can feed and teach the children, if you cannot get them to school if we have high water," Peterson said.

Woodrow Ladner said that such eventually had only happened once or twice during the last school year and that the proposed improvements affect all the students every day.

After a series of mini-skirmishes between board members on both sides as to what criteria best met the EDA's stipulation on employment, he did direct employment in construction, hoped for employment in the airport industrial area, or direct employment in construction followed by indirect employment benefit through education leading to long-term employment gains, supervisor James Travirca again appealed that both sides submit their list of priorities to EDA for their decision.

"If they give you the whole $290,000 that will be fine with us," Kellar said. Woodrow Ladner in response said it is a shame that 10 people cannot agree and have to call in strangers to settle their argument.

The school board repeatedly requested the supervisors to advance their list of priorities, subsequently denied until the closing minutes of the meeting.

A second attempt by Kellar to close the session brought cries of protest from the spectator section along with requests to be heard and that the supervisors pay more attention to the presentation being made by the school board.

Switching to the EDA criteria, Education Superintendent Terrell Randolph asked of the supervisors: "If you have a project affecting 1700 people directly, and double that number indirectly, then present it to us."

"If you have a project that will provide greater local need, then present it to us."

"If you have a project that will provide greater long range benefits, then present it to us!"

The supervisors agreed with the school board that the county's number one priority was the school children and said once again that if the EDA granted them all the money they would have no regrets.

Randolph promptly said, "If you agree the children of this county are the number one priority, and you will have no regrets if EDA awards us the money, then take a vote and give us the money without regret."

After reading proposed enrollment increase figures, Randolph said that even if they built an additional school in the west part of the county, they would still be short of classrooms at North Central.

"Even if we transferred 125 high school students from North Central to the new school we would be short of classrooms."

"We are utilizing book rooms, and partitioned trailers and if we get any new students we will be forced to add another lunch period."

"As it is we start feeding the Grade One students at 10:15 and it looks like we would have to back that up to 10 a.m."

"Now we have a milk program in effect to keep something on their stomachs and stop them from being so empty before they get home around 4:15 to 4:30 p.m."

"People think the superintendent is trying to cut out the home economics program at Gulfview, but that is not true."

"The government is insisting on us mainstreaming the special education classes at Clermont Harbor and putting them on campus at Gulfview."

"Already short of space, and our library in a classroom, the situation in Gulfview means we need two additional classrooms there."

"The port-o-lets at Gulfview are a disgrace, but the Educational Finance Commission says they will apply $27,000 to the provision of rest and dressing rooms if we act now."

"This is the last year we will have EFC funds and we must have matching money."

"The $290,000 represents our last hope."

Asked by Kellar if he was about finished, Randolph said "No."

The superintendent then went on to outline the board's budget problems and concluded by indicating they would receive $27,551 from increased assessments this year, but that their demand on local funds had increased by $50,730.

Asked by Courge what their total budget will be for the 1977-78 school year, Randolph said, "$1,700,000."

Kellar questioned Randolph on the existence of an emergency plan prepared for the eventuality that they would not have received any money.

Randolph said that his board had hoped to receive $600,000, the amount of their original EDA and matched fund sought grant.

Supervisor attorney Sam Favre asked Woodrow Ladner that if they failed to reach a compromise and the decision went to EDA to make, why did he think the school board would get it all.

Ladner replied, "We are stuck. The supervisors get revenue sharing money. Couldn't they look forward to those dollars for their priorities?"

"If we get the children educated they can fill all these work positions you say are coming open."

"How can you compromise on the future of the children?"

Favre said that they all agreed that there are no happy, hungry children, but he told Ladner that should the decision be left to the EDA then the school board would not get it all.

After reviewing all the applications Randolph said had been registered from the county, although the supervisors later added the courthouse improvements, School Board Member Louie Ladner said, "We have presented our case, now you present yours."

At this point Supervisor Peterson asked the school board if they would be satisfied in splitting the money, with them and the supervisors utilizing half of it each.

This figure was later amended in favor of a $155,000 vs $135,000 split, but both were rejected by the school authorities.

Mrs. Linda Lacoste of Kiln then called for the floor asking supervisors if they had any knowledge of the fact that the rest rooms and cafeteria at North Central had been condemned by the health department and that if they were not recertified the school would lose its federal funds.

County Sanitation Officer Louis Fernandez was prevailed upon to verify this statement but, keeping within the limitations of his office, said that while he could confirm that the inadequate kitchen facilities and the abominable condition of the restrooms had indeed led to his not being able to recertify the school, he was not in a position to know what funds would be lost.

The supervisors asked the school taken steps to correct the situation only to be told that the lack of money had prevented any such action.

Fernandez said that while the school situation was a problem, other problems facing the county included solid and liquid waste disposal.

After telling the supervisors she resented their impoliteness to the school board, Mrs. Lacoste called on the supervisors to vote the money to the children.

A reply by Kellar that he was in sympathy with them as he was the father of five children going to school, brought forth the instant response from several parents that such was not really the case here as his children all attended school in Picayune and not Hancock North Central.

Kellar, said that while the meeting was unofficial, he would like to stress that all the supervisors' meetings are open to the public and invited the parents to attend.

After receiving further beratements concerning their attitude to the school board, Kellar said he thought the political meeting was about two years ahead of its time.

Mrs. Nel Lee then jumped up and agreed with the dissenters saying she did not like the way you (Kellar) addressed the people or the board (school board).

Kellar responded by saying he could have moved the meeting outside, whereupon School Board Member Johnny Banks asked, "Why? We don't have anything to hide!"

Chicago daily names Favre to editorship

Gregory Favre, son of Mrs. Inez B. Favre, and the late A.G. Favre, Sr. of Bay St. Louis, has been appointed managing editor of The Daily News and The Sun Times, both large metropolitan dailies in Chicago, Ill.

In making the appointment Hoge said, "Favre brings to his new post the energy and imagination demonstrated over the last six months in the expansion and improvement of all Daily News features sections, including the introduction of Thursday's Sidetracks magazine."

"Favre came to The Daily News with a distinguished reputation as an editor and news director."

A Class of '52 graduate of St. Stanislaus, Favre attended Tulane University as a pre-law student before returning to Bay St. Louis to assist in the production of the Sea Coast Echo, then owned by his family.

His first job was folding the newspapers after they left the press.

He stayed with the Echo until sometime in 1953, when he left to join the staff of the Picayune Item.

Before joining The Daily News in Chicago, Favre's achievements included editor of the Corpus Christi Caller and Times newspapers, Corpus Christi, Texas managing editor, Dayton (Ohio) Daily News, editor, Palm Beach Post at the time the newspaper won a Pulitzer Prize.

Favre is married to the former Beatrice Hasty of Atlanta, Ga., and the couple have two children, Monica, 12 and Jeffery, 10.

Global cites Williams

Larry Williams, forman, Labor and Dravage Services Unit, Global Associates, NSTL, was named Global Employee of the Month, recently, in ceremonies at the site.

Resident Manager, Global,

In 1976, American dairy cows produced enough milk to form a river that would measure 2,904 miles long, 41 feet wide and three-and-a-half feet deep. It would stretch from Boston to San Francisco.

Williams is a native of Bay St. Louis and he and his wife, Lillian, and their two children, now reside in Gulfport.

The Chicken that had Chicken Pocks

by Caytee Carter
Once there was a chicken. It thought it was smart. She went around saying that she was the best. She scared everyone away. She went to the Cow and the Cow said Moo and ran away. She went to the sheep the sheep said Baa baa and ran away. Oh and her name is Henny. Her real name is Henrietta. Binnie the Bunny saw Henny coming. Henny saw Binnie coming to. She ran after him. But he got in his hole right in time.

Henny went to the horse. The horse said hee haw and then he ran away. She went to the pig, the pig said oink oink and ran away. Then she started to see red spots on herself. Then she said Cluck Cluck what happened to me. The owl came and said you are the chicken with the Chicken-pocks.

After she was over the Chicken-pocks, she never act that way again.

The Stucked Shoes

by Caytee Carter

Once upon a time there was a young man and his mean old wife.

That young man wanted to run away. Because of his wife. She was always mean to him.

His wife would laugh at him because he could not take off his shoes.

He felt very bad about it. He tried to run away to Spain but she caught him.

He tried to run away to China but she caught him.

Now he was thinking I will run away to Africa. So he did. And she did not catch him.

He was laying under a tree. A little monkey came along. It was playing with his shoes.

He got them off. He ran away with them. He ran after him. He caught him. What is your name? said the monkey.

Charlie, said the man. My wife's name is Cathy. My child's name is Dina. Those are funny names said the monkey. The man laughed. The monkey ran off.

The man went to his home town. His wife was waiting for him.

When she saw him coming she ran away. Because her shoes would not come off. When he got back he saw that his wife could not take off her shoes. He said I will not laugh at you. But you laughed at me. I did not like it either. You thought it was funny. I didn't.

Let's go to a party tonight! said the man. But there are no parties the wife said silly. The man said Lets have a party. Every body in the village came. Every body had fun.

After everybody went home. They went out to eat. When it was time for bed she said My shoes. The man said I have an idea. He came back with a monkey that liked shoes. The monkey took off her shoes and they lived happily ever after with a monkey that took off shoes when they were stuck.

THE COKE RAIN

by Caytee Carter

Once upon a time there was rain for days. It was raining so much.

The Rimble family was very sad. Jerry and Sue were sad because they could not play outside.

Jerry and Sue were looking at the rain 'til night. When they got up they sat at the window.

As soon as it was 10:00, The rain turned brown. Jerry went outside he put his mouth up.

It is Coke! said Jerry. But it got sticky. It was not funny.

It was days before people could go outside.

Rimble's called a meeting for everyone to come. After a while they decided to get the fire department to wash down the streets.

Well by that time it stopped raining.

When all the people could go outside.

Jerry and Sue were the happiest of all.
